

Lobsterfest 2004 is officially over, and was officially a success! Thanks to our host and hostess, and to all who brought the awesome food. It was a pleasure to once again hang out with all of you fine folk, and a joy to be back in the gazebo.

We'll be at Lisa's this week on Friday (email me or call Jim if you need directions) -- and it's her birthday this week as well. Happy birthday to Lisa.... I think we should all plan to bring our own beverages since Lisa doesn't have a tapper -- unless there's something she's not telling us!

I know there was an awesome quote of the week, but, as usual, my brain has been affected by the weekend and the cold medicine. In my defense, Brenna forgot it too. See, it's not just me. Speaking of Brenna, be sure to check out <http://www.reds-place.com> to see a BEAUTIFUL picture of Brenna at the garage sale. It's a small wonder that Jim calls her a hottie.

See you guys on Friday!
